Experience in buying children's positioning watches in Hanoi

On the market today there are many lines of children's watches with different designs, models, features and prices. To buy equipment that is truly right for your child, you should keep the following in mind:

The positioning watch features for babies need

The watch is a smart device. Their features are constantly upgraded, innovated and more diverse to meet the optimal needs of users. Products that you give your baby may have this application, no other application, but must have the following basic features:

1. Positioning.
2. Notification, warning of danger.
3. Communication: Listening and calling.

Positioning feature

As a positioning watch, the most important feature is definitely positioning. Currently, the positioning feature of a smartwatch is based on three main technologies, including LBS, GPS and Wifi.

1. LBS (GSM locator) kids watch : Works based on the operator's base station (BTS) location. Within range, this technology can determine relative location, not absolute accuracy. Today, mobile waves are almost everywhere, so LBS technology can locate the clock anywhere, including places where GPS or Wifi can not reach.
2. GPS watches: GPS child positioning watches use satellite systems so the deviations are often very small or in other words extremely high accuracy. However, GPS watches only work well in open environments and good weather.
3. Wifi locator for kids : Based on the location of Wifi transmitters via MAC address, which is recorded by Google at places with Wifi hotspots, the watch can catch signals. The ability to identify these location watches is better than LBS technology but they only work well in areas with dense wifi coverage such as cities and densely populated areas.

Thus, each positioning technology has its own advantages and disadvantages. But fortunately, now there are many types of child positioning watches that integrate all 3 of the LBS, Wifi and GPS positioning technologies, bringing many benefits to users.

Positioning - one of the most important features of a baby watch

Water resistance of smart watch for children

Young children often play with, sweaty and have no sense of care as adults. When choosing to buy a watch for children, you should choose devices that are waterproof, resistant to rain, wash your hands. However, you still need to remind your child to limit contact with water when wearing a watch because most of the current products are although waterproof, but not at a high level.

Priority should be given to waterproof watches for children

Designs, models clock positioning for children

Designs, models of the clock position for baby current is very diverse. We firmly believe that there will be no products more beautiful than the products that children like. So, let your baby choose the style, color of the clock according to your preferences!
