Experience of buying a kitchen sink faucet

To choose to buy a good quality dishwasher, note some of the following criteria:

Water tap force created : Water force testing is important. You should use the type of faucet that creates strong water flow, because with strong force will easily disperse all kinds of substances, dirt, grease from cooking, cleaning better than weak water flows only washable a small part.

Tap filter : A filter is the part attached to the nozzle. This unit has the function of regulating the amount of water, preventing water from splashing out of the tub, saving water efficiently. In the high-end dishwasher product line, the filter is also integrated with the function to remove metal or some harmful substances that are not good for health.

Ability to rotate : Normally, with a single small tank, it is possible to use a fixed direction faucet. However, this design is no longer popular, but families often install double or triple sinks. You should choose to buy a hose with the ability to rotate or stretch, flexibly because it is more convenient for users. The directional hose is very limited, especially when you have to wash large items.

Material of dishwashing faucet : Sink faucet is currently manufactured on many different materials, including some outstanding materials such as: Plastic, stainless steel, 304 stainless steel, copper, ceramic, nickel plating, stone Granite. Each type has different advantages and disadvantages. The most popular material used today is 304 stainless steel because of its high durability, no rust, no oxidation, easy to clean, and luxurious gloss that is suitable for the kitchen space. One more note when choosing materials, you should choose the material of the hose synchronized with your washbasin to bring delicate harmony.

Needs of the family : You should determine the needs of the family to choose the right faucet, save on the cost of buying and installing. Currently there are types of dishwashing faucets that are classified according to their installation position, function, and design such as wall-mounted faucets, basin / sink faucets; One-way taps (cold), two-way taps (hot / cold); Hoses should be hard, hoses should be soft; Single and double taps; .

Sink faucet price : Depending on the material, style, function, it is divided into each segment of cheap, mid-range and high-end, from which the dishwasher prices will also have different differences. The average price of dishwashing faucet ranges from 100,000 VND to about 3 million VND, meeting all the needs and economic possibilities of each family.

Trademark : Currently there are many domestic and foreign brands providing dishwashing faucets for your reference. The famous dishwashing faucet brands in the domestic and foreign markets can include: Son Ha, Toan Thang, Inax, Caesar, Cotto, Hafele, . with many diverse designs that are popular with consumers. .
