Which country welcomed the first new year?

While the fireworks display on Sydney Harbor often symbolizes the moment of transition between the old year and the new year, you might be surprised to learn that Australia is not the first country in the world to welcome the year. new.

Tonga Island in the Pacific will enter the new year at 10 am GMT on December 31, making this small island nation the first place to welcome the new year 2020.

Where will be the year 2020 latest?

After traveling 'around the world', the new year will finally reach every country.

The last place to welcome the new year 2020 will be the remote small islands of the United States.

Baker Island and Howland Island will welcome the New Year at 12 pm GMT January 1 - but because the place is uninhabited, people tend to forget it.

The penultimate position belonged to American Samoa at 11am - just 558 miles from Tonga, where locals and tourists celebrated the New Year greetings from 25 hours ago.

Therefore, if you can make a quick flight between these two locations, you will be welcomed to 2020 twice.
