Which memory card company should buy the best?

Currently on the market there are many types of memory cards with different models of many different brands and the quality is also different. Therefore, to choose a good memory card brand, quality is not easy.

However, based on consumer reviews and feedback, we will present two famous names in the field of popular memory card manufacturing: SanDisk, Kingston. Let's see what products have these advantages.

SanDisk memory card

Sandisk is a well-known brand in the United States in designing, developing and manufacturing data storage solutions using flash memory, control technology .

The SanDisk memory card product features a compact, convenient design and a very diverse capacity to meet all user storage needs, from 1 GB, 4Gb, 8GB . to 64GB or 128GB for storage capacity. variety, convenient.

In addition, compared to other memory cards in the market, Sandisk memory cards are rated to have fast and stable write / read speeds. If compared with memory cards of the same size, the same card life, the same segment, Sandisck is always rated as having high write speed and faster response. You can also use the SanDisk memory card for many hours while the card remains in good shape, the writing speed is stable and fast.

Moreover, the product also has a genuine warranty for up to 5 years. Therefore, you can be assured of durability and safety when using the product.

What about SanDisk memory card prices? Certainly, this is not going to be a big problem for those who want to own a quality memory card, with super fast read / write speed. Compared to general memory card products on the market, SanDisk memory cards are classified as mid-range and not too expensive. Therefore, you do not need to worry about the cost of a memory card of this brand anywhere.

Kingston memory card

Also a well-known brand from the US, Kingston is known by many users as a multi-national technology internship, with production and shipping facilities in many countries such as the United States, the United Kingdom, Ireland, Taiwan and mainland China . The company specializes in manufacturing, selling and supporting flash memory products, computer memory products.

Kingston memory card is one of its quality products and is best known. On the outside, the product with the familiar packaging design is the outstanding red and black white background that is recognizable. The card is designed with extreme heat and force, ensuring a permanent maintenance in a normal storage environment.

But perhaps what many people are more interested in is the read / write speed of the product. Compared to other memory cards in the same segment, the same memory card is rated Kingston memory read / write speed very quickly. Especially with memory card models with large capacity, it has the ability to support write speed very fast. Although the reading speed is not much improved, but if you use a memory card for a camera, or use it for movie shooting, then surely, you should only care about the high speed memory cards and Kingston memory cards will is a reasonable choice.

Therefore, it is worth it to spend money to buy a Kingston memory card, especially when its price is quite cheap (ranging from 80,000 to 500 thousand) and a long-term warranty, maybe up to 5 years.
