

Why doesn't Zoom sound? Zoom error has no sound

Zoom error will affect online learning for students as well as teachers in teaching. There are many common errors on Zoom such as the error of not being able to access Zoom, the error of not logging in your account on Zoom or the error of Zoom without sound.

If Zoom does not sound, it means that students will not be able to hear the teacher's lecture content, or to hear the voices of teachers or other students. Or the teacher's own device does not sound when lecturing on Zoom. The following article will guide teachers and students to overcome the inaudible condition on Zoom.

Fix the Zoom Error no sound on the computer

1. Check the microphone on the computer

Before studying on a computer Zoom using a microphone, you need to check whether the microphone device connection with the computer is ok or not, whether the microphone makes a sound or not. If there is a problem with the microphone, sound will not be transmitted into Zoom.

2. Always turn on the audio mode when learning on Zoom

In the Settings section of Zoom there is a separate Sound adjustment item for us to check the sound before entering the Zoom lesson. You need to check the Automatically connect computer audio when participating in meetings to always be connected to the microphone when studying online on Zoom.

3. Turn on the microphone while studying online on Zoom

When learning online on Zoom there will be the option to turn the microphone on or off on Zoom and turn off the camera on Zoom. If you see the crossed out symbol at the microphone, just click on it to turn on the microphone.

4. Teacher shares screen with no sound

One case where students do not hear learning on Zoom is because the teacher shares the screen with audio, but does not allow audio sharing. At that time, the teacher click on the Other item in the toolbar at the sharing screen and select Share sound.

Fixed Zoom no sound on phone

1. Authorize the microphone for Zoom

Setting the Zoom setting on your phone that you forgot to allow Zoom to use the device's microphone, of course the microphone will not pick up the sound you say and other people will not hear you. So go to Settings and tap on Zoom app, then check if you have granted microphone permissions for the app or not.

2. Turn on the microphone when studying online on Zoom

If you learn in Zoom without sound, you just need to click on the mic icon below to re-enable the sound, if there is a cross icon.

3. Adjust the microphone in Zoom Settings

At the Zoom application interface, click Settings and then click on Meeting. Now click on Automatically connect audio. You need to switch from Off to Use Internet mode to automatically connect the microphone when studying online on Zoom. Click Finish to save.

4. Update Zoom to the latest version

In case you have tried the above methods, check if Zoom has the latest version or not. If so, update Zoom. You can also uninstall and reinstall Zoom. Then re-adjust audio permissions and auto connect audio on Zoom.

Good luck.
