Currently, on the market there are many devices Wifi Router born with different features. This has made many of you quite confused and do not know which product to choose?

But did you know that those who have been using Totolink N350RT Wifi Router feel very impressed. And their comments will be shared in the following article.

Introduction to Totolink N350RT Wifi Router

When installing the network, surely everyone will be equipped with additional Wifi Router but after a while, the stability level will not meet. At this point, you can try to use Wifi Router Totolink N350RT. Here are some outstanding information about this product for your reference.

Introducing the Totolink brand

Referring to Totolink, some of you are not new to this brand. This is the son of Zioncom Technology Co., Ltd. This company was established in 1999 in Hong Kong. After that, the company invested and built the first network manufacturer in Vietnam.

Most of the brand's products are equipped with special features, relatively high performance and quite cheap price. Therefore, when choosing network equipment, most customers usually prefer products of this brand. Of course, Wifi Router is no exception.

Introduce a few strokes of the shape and characteristics of the product

Appearance of the product

Basically, the Wifi Router Totolink N350RT has a compact design with a bright elegant tone. Therefore, you can easily place them in indoor locations. If you look closely, you'll see a reset button in front of the Wifi Router. This is quite a smart design, allowing users to easily use instead of placing buttons on the back like other devices.

At the back, there's a system of ports and a power jack so you can connect with other devices. On the device there is a system of glowing LEDs to help users to observe and capture the operation of the device. The detail appreciated by users in this device is that there are 2 main antennas that help increase connectivity.

Some salient features of the product

In addition to the design, the features of the product also receive positive feedback. Like other devices, Totolink N350RT Wifi Router has met quite well the needs of users' Web surfing, even stronger than some other devices.

It is worth mentioning that this is to create a separate Wifi network. This has brought quite impressive values. Not only do they not only protect users' network access information, but they also increase the performance when sharing a wireless network connection!

Besides, if you need to use Internet and TV combo, Totolink N350RT Wifi Router will respond quite well thanks to VLAN IPTV support. Compared to other brands' products in this price segment, this is a truly outstanding advantage.

One problem that mothers often worry about when they let their children use the free network is that it is affected by bad websites. However, don't worry yet that the Wifi Router Totolink N350RT has the parental control function. Accordingly, you can monitor and prevent your children from accessing unhealthy information.

In addition to the above prominent features, the device is also installed and controlled via the app on the phone quite easily. However, because the management work through Cloud is somewhat dependent on the Server, I am not really satisfied.

Overall evaluation of the product

With the above information, it can be seen that Totolink N350RT Wifi Router is a pretty good wireless device and meets the needs of the product.
