

Windows 7 is available on more than half of global PCs

According to the latest information from StatCounter, Windows 7 is currently the most popular operating system worldwide. This will become a major barrier for the usurpation of Windows 8.

According to the latest information from StatCounter, Windows 7 is currently the most popular operating system worldwide. This will become a major barrier for the usurpation of Windows 8.

Specifically, Windows 7 was present at 52.6% of computers worldwide. Meanwhile, the 11-year-old operating system - Windows XP quickly lost users and was reduced to 23.76%. Mac OS X ranked third with a market share of 7.54%, followed by Windows Vista with only 6.47% of the global total.

Windows 8 is not included in the statistics table, but with information from research firm Net Application, the new operating system jumped over the 2% mark. It is too early to say anything, in the future, it is certain that the market share of operating systems will have many changes.

You finished reading the article "Windows 7 is available on more than half of global PCs" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.