

Windows 8 can be released in October

Many sources said Microsoft will complete Windows 8 in the summer and launch the product in October this year.

Many sources said Microsoft will complete Windows 8 in the summer and launch the product in October this year.

Many rumors say Microsoft will complete Windows 8 this summer. (Photo: Extremetech).

A Bloomberg source said Windows 8 will be completed this summer and marketed in October. Microsoft's new operating system will have both versions for Intel-based computers and ARM in the market. Earlier, rumors had it that Windows 8 ARM versions would be released more slowly.

At the time of the release of the new version of the operating system, only five devices using ARM chips were available, while the number of Intel chips running Windows 8 was up to 40. Microsoft is rumored to be preparing for a special event in April. It is time for the company to introduce its partners as well as strategies related to the release of Windows 8.

Windows 8 is considered a major improvement over the classic Windows operating system. This version has many features and the Metro interface is optimized for touch screens. This product can work both on desktop, laptop and tablet. The latest Microsoft operating system supports both ARM and Intel chips.

You finished reading the article "Windows 8 can be released in October" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.

