Xiaomi's laptop has the same style as the MacBook Air in detail and only difference in logo and price is about half cheaper.

Xiaomi's first laptop is very similar to MacBook Air.

Xiaomi has been accused of copying designs from phones to Apple tablets and the latest information also shows that the company does the same with laptops. Xiaomi's first laptop resembles MacBook Air from design, aluminum case, hinge, chiclet keyboard.

The only difference that can be noticed between Apple and Xiaomi products is that the Chinese manufacturer's logo is just below the screen and the power button is orange instead of black.

Xiaomi's products are also equipped with Intel chips and the configuration is similar but the selling price can be only about 481 USD , equivalent to more than 10 million VND.

Xiaomi is considered "Apple of China" and is also the largest smartphone maker in the country. Not only the product, even the product launches to the style of blue jeans and black shirts by CEO Lei Jun are said to be copying styles from Apple.
