2. How to play CryptoKitties:

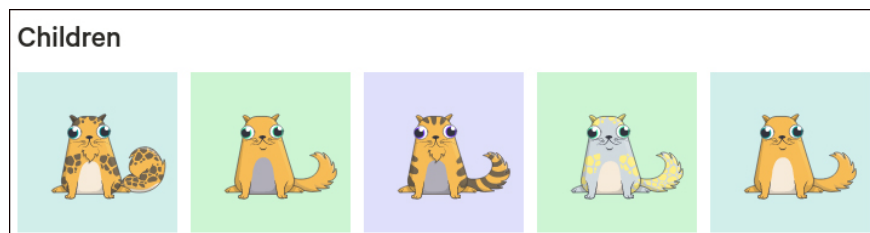

First you need to spend 12 USD to buy a virtual cat, then you can decide to sell this cat to other players. Each virtual cat will have different Ethereum prices. The way to sell it is by auction style, choose start price and lower end price. The price will automatically decrease within 24 hours until a buyer is available.

If you want to breed, with male cats can be posted on the market to look for breeding cats. If you own a female cat, the person with the male cat will pay some ETH to be allowed to multiply the female cat. At the same time, the female cat owner also has to pay ETH to be multiplied by the male cat. Each cat will have cooldown time after each mating and giving birth.

A cat will be regulated by different 256-bit genes. When mating, 2 genomes will work together so you can create many new genomes completely. Cats have a unique and unique index, the higher the selling price.

We can continue to bid for the first cat, or continue breeding, but only female cats can produce the next gene.

However, if you want to try this game, be careful. Currently, Vietnam will prohibit any form of payment using Cryptocurrency cryptography on January 1, 2018. Acts of using cryptocurrency to buy and sell products and goods may be guilty of criminal charges. So even though CryptoKitties is a fever in the world, you need to be knowledgeable about the laws and regulations, not to be involved in buying and selling virtual cats with cryptocurrency.

Wish you all have fun playing games!
