

You will soon be able to buy both computers and phones ... from the Microsoft Store of Windows 10

Microsoft is currently in the process of renewing the Windows Store brand into Microsoft Store on Windows 10 with new logos and names. But that's not all. The new Microsoft Store has many things to go along.

Microsoft is currently in the process of renewing the Windows Store brand into Microsoft Store on Windows 10. They have just released a new logo and name for the Windows Store. But that's not all. The new Microsoft Store has many things to go along.

Redmond will soon be able to purchase hardware from the MICrosoft Store right on Windows 10. Now, users can only download applications, games, books, movies, TV Show from Microsoft Store. But when updated in the future, you will be able to buy most of the hardware and accessories included on this online store, including Surface, Xbox One console, Windows Phone devices, laptops, computers. Windows 10 table.

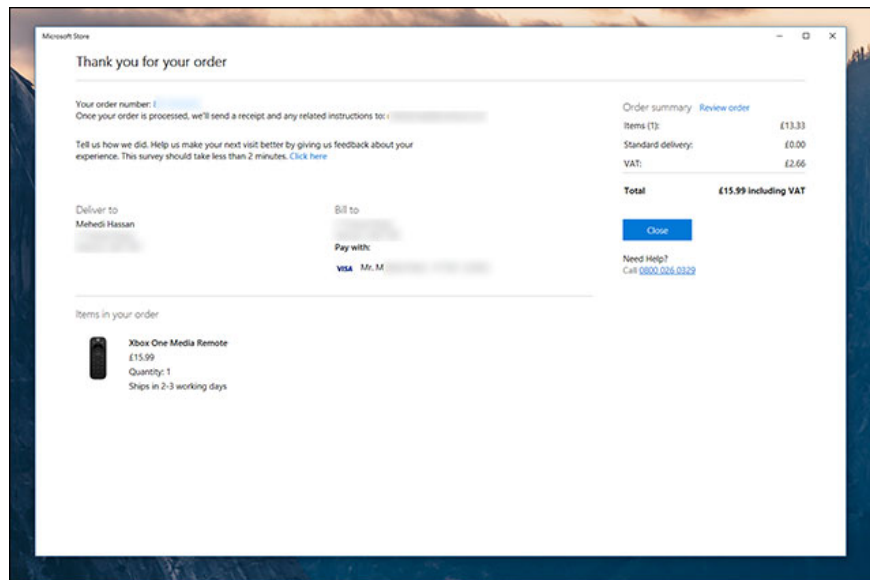

Microsoft also sells third-party devices such as Fitbit watches and fitness training tools. Microsoft is currently testing this feature on Xbox One with Xbox Insiders.

Shop many products from Microsoft and partners on Microsoft Store

The feature is not currently available on PC and mobile, but the author of this article was able to access some product pages and buy some. As with any product, buying or pre-ordering requires verification by Windows Hello. After that, Microsoft Store will bring up the order page within the application, which looks like the current Microsoft Store page. The writer tested the purchase on Xbox One Media Remote and the order took place normally.

The purchase process is no stranger to Windows Store users

This is a big step for Microsoft / Windows Store when giving Windows 10 users all the latest products from Microsoft and their partners. It is unclear when this feature will be released to the public but will probably come with Windows 10 Fall Creators Update, scheduled for release on October 17.

You finished reading the article "You will soon be able to buy both computers and phones ... from the Microsoft Store of Windows 10" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.