

YouTube is 13 years old, this is the first video posted

YouTube's first video was 18 seconds long, gaining over 48 million views, posted on this video social network 13 years ago.

YouTube's first video was 18 seconds long, gaining over 48 million views, posted on this video social network 13 years ago. Originally a dating site, YouTube has now become a minor and plays many important roles, both as a video transmission site, as well as a place for singers to upload videos, influential people to share interests. my point .

Named Me at the zoo, YouTube co-founder Jawed Karim stands before two elephants, describing that they have two very long taps.

The description of the video also says Darude's Sandstorm song is playing but due to the noise it is hard to hear. Please watch YouTube's 'first time' video below.

See more:

1. A series of cult videos, billions of views on YouTube were hacked, renamed and deleted
2. Discharge of guns at YouTube headquarters due to not earning money from videos
3. Where does Google store your YouTube and Gmail videos?

You finished reading the article "YouTube is 13 years old, this is the first video posted" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.